

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides compositions comprising oocysts and a surfactant capable of reducing or preventing aggregation of the oocysts. Also provided are methods for reducing or preventing oocyst aggregation in a vaccine, and methods for evaluating the ability of a surfactant to reduce or prevent oocyst aggregation.